Kampala, Uganda

- Uganda relies heavily on coffee crops, its principal export.
- Uganda is the only country to halve the rate of HIV infection, from 25% in 1992 to about 10% today.
- Kampala is Uganda's capital and largest city, with a population of 1.2 million people.

Uganda and Abortion

- Abortion is illegal in Uganda except to save a woman's life.
- One in 5 pregnancies end in abortion.
- An estimated 297,000 abortions are induced every year; this is a rate of 54 abortions per 1,000 women aged 15-49 (the U.S.'s rate is 22), giving Uganda the distinction of the 10th highest abortion rate.
- Unsafe abortion is a leading cause of maternal death—1 in 5.

A Few Words from the Director

Most of the clients we get here are below 18 years with similar needs, and they look at The Comforter's Center as their only hope...many have been expelled by their parents from home. The majority are orphans who migrate to urban centers looking for ways of surviving.

....It has been said that young people between the ages of 15-24 face abstinence as a stigma, they are called names like Holy Pope, Mr.Impotent, or Robot.

....It seems all Ugandan women should go through post-abortion classes. Many women have had abortions in the early twenties and are now being tortured with the physical and emotional consequences.

...It is incumbent upon us Christians to stand up and speak for the innocent and defenseless preborn babies. Proverbs 31:8 instructs us, "Open your mouth for the speechless in the cause of all who are appointed to die." Legalisation of abortion only makes it legal but not safe. —Veronica Nakyewe, Director
